

COVID-19 Mental Health Support Line for Clinicians & First Responders on the Front Lines

Maine Association of Psychiatric Physicians has joined forces with the Maine Department of Health and Human Services, including the Office of Behavioral Health, as well as 2-1-1, Emergency Medical Services (EMS), Maine Disaster Behavioral Health Team, the Maine Psychological Association, the Maine Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers and Emergency Medical Services to offer phone support service calls to health care workers, first responders and your families to manage the stress and emotional toll of being on the front lines of this pandemic.

If you or someone you know is a health care worker or first responder feeling overwhelmed by the COVID-19 pandemic, help is available.

Speak with a mental health professional for help dealing with anxiety, depression, stress, grief or worry 7 days a week, 8 a.m. to 8:00 p.m.

Call the toll-free COVID-19 Mental Health Support Line at 866-367-4440 or
207-221-8196

These services are NOT THERAPY. They are NOT TREATMENT. The Frontline Warmline will be available until further notice.

Volunteer providers are licensed psychiatrists, psychologists, therapists, social workers, nurse practitioners, etc. For more information on crisis and treatment resources, go to <https://www.maine.gov/dhhs/samhs/coronavirus.shtml>
